

Cell phone use should definitely be banned from use while enroute on aircraft. It has become a bother to many people for the short time that it is allowed at present as aircraft taxi. If the FCC wants to expand "air rage" incidents, then the phones should be allowed but that really doesn't make any sense at all.